S91. Ans.(a)

Sol. As provided in the question, statement (E) is the first statement of the paragraph in which there is a mention of the prerequisite for the youths to become good citizens in future. Sentence (E) and (F) forms a coherent pair as sentence (F) has talked that youths need to learn the skills to get themselves into the job and thus contributing to the country’s economy. Sentence (C) is consecutively following sentence (F) as it has mentioned the other things that youths should follow to know their country more. Moreover, sentence (D) and (A) are forming a contextually logical pair, the clue can be inferred from the joining word “success.” Sentence (D) is talking about the entire nation’s success and sentence (A) is talking about how to achieve that success on continuous pace. Thus, sentence (A) becomes the last sentence of the paragraph as it describes about the role of government in order to provide the facilities to the youth to achieve that success. However, sentence (B) fails to connect with the theme of the paragraph as it is describing about the focus on laws, policies and legal frameworks by banks which will help the young generation to utilize their full potential. Therefore, with the elimination of sentence (B) the sequence thus formed is EFCDA. Hence, option (a) becomes the most suitable answer choice.

S96. Ans.(c)

Sol. Sentence (III) is incorrect as the subject of the sentence 'information' is uncountable noun and is singular. Hence 'was' will be used in place of 'were'.

Sentence (IV) contains an error of subject-verb agreement. Some nouns ending in 's' [eg: statistics] appear to be plural, but generally refer to only one thing and are, therefore, generally considered singular.

Here, only (I) & (II) statements are grammatically and contextually meaningful. Hence, option (c) is the most suitable answer choice.

S97. Ans.(a)

Sol. Sentence (II) is incorrect. 'that' is the correct use instead of 'what' as 'that' is used in the form of relative pronoun after 'nothing, anything'.

Sentence (III) is incorrect. 'on' will be used after 'later' as 'later' means 'afterwards' whereas 'later on' means 'in the future, or after the time already mentioned'.

Among the given sentences, statement (IV) contains a grammatical error. It is to be noted When plural nouns do not end in s, the possessiveness of it can be denoted by simply adding apostrophe and an 's' ['s] after the noun; however, if the plural noun already ends in s, a mere addition of an apostrophe signifies its possessiveness. Therefore, teacher's should be replaced by teachers'.

Here, only the statement given in (I) is correct. Hence, option (a) is the most suitable answer choice.

S98. Ans.(e)

Sol. All the given sentences are grammatically correct.

S99. Ans.(b)

Sol. Sentence (I) is incorrect. 'whom' will be used in place of 'who' as 'who' is a nominative case after which a verb is necessary while 'whom' is an objective case.

Sentence (II) is incorrect as 'has he prospered' is the correct use. If 'since' is used in the form of conjunction then main clause is used in the present perfect tense while clause having 'since' is used in simple past tense.

There is a grammatical error in sentence (IV). To make the sentence grammatically correct, replace "was" by "is", since the event described is of present. The hint can be drawn from the word "today". Hence, option (b) is the most suitable answer choice.

S100. Ans.(a)

Sol. Sentence (II) is incorrect as 'more better' is a double comparative which is not used in the sentence. 'much, very much, far' is used before comparative degree. Hence 'much' or 'very much' will be used in place of 'more'.

Sentence (III) is wrong as 'children' is the correct use in place of 'child'. If countable noun is used after 'any of, some of, all of', then it should be plural.

Hence, option (a) is the most suitable answer choice.
