Directions (1-5): Rearrange the following sentences (A), (B), (C), (D) and (E) in the proper sequence to form a meaningful paragraph and then answer the questions given below.

(A) Global warming is caused by an acute heating of the earth's atmosphere as a result of energy being trapped.

(B) Cattle and other animals that produce methane can also contribute significantly to global warming, much of this has been a problem because of human animal farming which produces hundreds of cattle for the meat industry.

(C) Greenhouse gasses such as carbon dioxide and methane can cause the atmosphere to build up, leading to solar radiation becoming trapped within the earth like within a greenhouse, hence the name.

(D) Global warming is also largely a result of the release of methane from cracks in the earth, landfill sites and through natural gas leaks.

(E) Once these greenhouse gasses are released, they can contribute to the buildup of the atmosphere and work to trap more solar radiation within the earth.

Directions (31-35): Read the following passage and answer the questions as directed.

Over the decades, man has come up with several unique and resourceful inventions. The computer and machines have begun to control and replace the important functions earlier performed by man. We have grown extremely dependent on artificial intelligence. However, it is widely believed that artificial intelligence cannot replace human intelligence, as man is the creator of machines.

Human brain can work constantly and more efficiently to create and make use of something wisely. Humans are capable of learning, grasping, understanding the concept of various things. Humans are curious to discover and create new things. Humans are multi-talented whereas machines are not. Artificial intelligence is also created by human brains and their functions are limited.

Machines are superior to humans in terms of speed and accuracy. Calculators for example work more accurately and speedily than human brains to make calculations. Human brain programs the functioning of any kind of machine. Human brains develop naturally by observing, experimenting, learning and discovering, but the improvement in machinery is possible only when its mechanical brain is fed by humans. Also, there is no emotional intelligence in machines. Emotions play a major role in developing human brain. Thus, the capacity of machines is limited whereas humans are always experimenting, creating, inventing and discovering more and more.

Q31. According to the given passage what has man become increasingly dependent on?

- (a) Gramophones
- (b) Machine language
- (c) Artificial Intelligence
- (d) Assembly Language
- (e) All of the above

Q32. What are the capabilities of humans that are mentioned in the passage?

- (b) Humans are multi-talented.
- (c) Humans are capable of learning, grasping, understanding the concept of various things.
- (d) None of the above
- (e) All of the above

Q33. How is the improvement in machinery possible?

- (a) When its mechanical brain is fed by humans
- (b) When its mechanical brain is sold by humans
- (c) When its mechanical brain is rolled by humans
- (d) When its mechanical brain is fired by humans
- (e) None of the above

The removal of the top soil by human and natural -----46----- is termed as soil erosion. Destruction of trees speed soil erosion. The poor -----47----- of agricultural land and overgrazing of pastures enhance the rate of soil erosion. If a sloping land is -----48----- the water runs down furrows. The natural drainage system is damaged and soil erosion is increased. The natural agents of erosion are -----49----- rain-water, sun-rays and wind. The top soils on river beds are -----50----- away by rivers and streams. Overflowing rain-water washes away mud and dust. Weak soil is also blown away by wind and damaged by sun-rays. As a result of soil erosion millions of hectares of land have -----51----- unproductive and barren. The earth's crust is -----52----- and fertility is lost. To prevent soil erosion steps must be taken to plant trees and -----53----- forests. The agricultural land must be maintained -----54----- and the drainage system must be improved. Moreover the pastures should be used in a restricted way. If we take these -----55----- we can surely have a remedy for the damages already done by soil erosion.

Directions (61-65): Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

The existence of life on Mars has been a subject of study since more than a century. Scientists have been trying to collate evidences to figure out whether life has ever existed on this planet or is it inhabited with people presently or if there is any possibility of life on Mars in the future. The research done until now hints that there has never been any life on Mars nor is it inhabited with people currently. However, the possibility of life on the red planet cannot be ruled out completely.

Research shows that surface liquid water was present on Mars during the ancient Noachian period. This made for a habitable atmosphere for microorganisms. However, whether microorganisms ever penetrated on the planet is still a question. Research on the subject is still going on. Today, water on Mars exists in its solid state that is in the form of ice. Some of it also exists as vapour in the planet's atmosphere.

Scientists have been trying to conduct research on Mars by way of telescopes, spacecrafts and rovers that are helpful in collecting evidences about the condition and nature of this planet. It is interesting and exciting to learn that life on this planet may be possible as its atmosphere is quite similar to Earth.

Directions (136-140) Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Privatization is basically the process of shifting public sector units in the hands of private owners. Privatization in India mainly started post- independence. Many developed countries such as France, Germany and United Kingdom had already tried hands at it and it had proved to be successful in most cases. There are a number of reasons owing to which the government of a country takes the decision to privatize certain sectors.

Some of these include lowering the burden of the government, coping up with the financial losses, providing better services and enhancing the overall customer experience. While certain countries have benefited from privatization others have failed drastically. India has seen a mixed result. While some industries in India are doing a good job post privatization, others have dipped the quality of services and raised the prices.

There is an on-going debate over whether the government should privatize the public- sector industries or run them on their own. Different people have different views on this and the government has its own take. However, the truth is that privatization has its share of advantages as well as disadvantages. The impact of privatization has been negative in certain cases but it has also yielded its set of positive results.
