Solutions

S1. Ans. (a)

Sol. Flatter to deceive: appear promising but ultimately disappoint.

S2. Ans. (b)

Sol. Make ends meet means earn just enough money to live on: Manage, cope, survive, get by.

S3. Ans. (c)

Sol. Heave a sigh of relief: to suddenly feel very happy because something unpleasant has not happened or has ended.

S4. Ans. (d)

Sol. By leaps and bounds: with startlingly rapid progress: rapidly, swiftly, quickly, speedily.

S5. Ans. (a)

Sol. hit the ground running: start something and proceed at a fast pace with great enthusiasm.

S6. Ans. (b)

Sol. Read the sentence carefully, it can be well verified that the given sentence is grammatically incorrect as there is an error in the highlighted part of the sentence which needs to be replaced by a correct and meaningful expression. Among the three options, the first and the third expressions provide a contextual meaning to the sentence. They both make sure that the sentence follows the correct grammar structure and the intended meaning of the sentence remains intact. However, the second expression is not befitting to the sentence as the phrasal verb "put up" cannot be used in this case. The verb "put up" means stay temporarily in accommodation other than one's own home. While the phrasal verb "put in" means to spend a particular amount of time doing something, or to make a particular amount of effort in order to do something. Hence option (b) is the correct choice.

S7. Ans. (e)

Sol. The expression "will be made mandatory" is the correct expression and it also adds a meaningful sense to the sentence. It is to be noted that the sentence is in Passive form and the expressions given as options do not fit into the sentence as they are both grammatically incorrect and contextually meaningless. Hence option (e) is the correct choice.

S8. Ans. (a)

Sol. The correct phrase to make the sentence grammatically correct is "While lowering the allocation of surface water". It is to be noted that the conjunction 'while' connects the sentence appropriately as it means during the time that; at the same time as. Among the three options, only the first expression provides the correct structure that fits perfectly into the sentence. The other two cannot be used as they are not fitting to the correct grammar syntax. Hence option (a) is the correct choice.

S9. Ans. (d)

Sol. All the above expressions can be used to replace the existing phrase to make the sentence grammatically correct and logically meaningful. It is to be noted that the expression "preside over by one of the representative" is incorrect as it doesn't follow the correct grammar structure. It should be replaced by "presided over by one of the representatives" to make the sentence grammatically correct. The noun or a pronoun used after the phrase "one of the" is always in the plural form (as we are talking of one person/place/thing out of many). The phrasal verb "preside over" means to be in a position of power while important changes or events are happening. Thus, all the given expressions give the similar meaning to the sentence. Hence option (d) is the correct choice.

S10. Ans. (e)

Sol. The expression "would go a long way in negating apprehensions" is the correct expression and it also adds a meaningful sense to the sentence. The phrase "go a long way" means if you say that someone will go a long way, you think they will be successful in their life or career. The expressions given as options do not fit into the sentence as they are both grammatically incorrect and contextually meaningless. Hence option (e) is the correct choice.

S11. Ans. (c)

Sol. The usage of the preposition 'on' is incorrect as per the context of the question. Moreover, an article is missing before the noun-phrase 'long run'.

Among the given options, only alternative (III) is the correct phrase to replace the highlighted part. Hence, option (c) is the correct answer.

S12. Ans. (a)

Sol. The apostrophe 's with everybody is wrong because of the presence of the word 'else'. Now, the 's should be used with the 'else'.

Among the given alternatives, the alternative (I) is correct and hence, option (a) is the correct answer.

S13. Ans. (b)

Sol. In the construction 'Noun + Preposition + Noun', both the nouns neighboring the preposition should be singular nouns. So, there is no error in the phrase 'day after day'. But, there is an error in the phrase

'five-rupees note'. In the phrase, 'five-rupees' is an adjective, not noun. So, the word 'rupees' should be singular. The correct phrase should be 'five-rupee'.

Among the given alternatives, the correct alternative is the alternative (III) and hence, the correct answer is option (b).

S14. Ans. (d)

Sol. The highlighted phrase is erroneous. The use of the article 'a' is wrong. The correct article to be used is 'the'. Moreover, the use of the helping 'am' is incorrect because when two pronouns are joined by a conjunction 'and', the verb will be plural.

The correct phrase will be 'You and I are the part', so the alternative (III) is correct and hence, the option (d) is the correct answer.

S15. Ans. (e)

Sol. The highlighted phrase is grammatically correct and doesn't required further correction.

In sentences where the subject is 'everybody, somebody, nobody, anybody, someone, no one, everyone, anyone, everything, something, nothing, anything', the verb is singular.
