Passage-I

As my train was not due to leave for another hour, I had plenty of time to spare. After buying some magazines to read on the journey, I made my way to the luggage office to collect the heavy suitcase I had left there three days before. There were only a few people waiting, and I took out my wallet to find the receipt for my case. The receipt did not seem to be where I had left it. I emptied the contents of the wallet, and the railway tickets, money, scraps of paper, and photographs tumbled out of it; but no matter how hard I searched, the receipt was nowhere to be found.

I explained the situation sorrowfully to the assistant. The man looked at me suspiciously as if to say he had heard this type of story many times and asked me to describe the case. I told him that it was an old, brown looking object no different from the many suitcases I could see on the shelves. The assistant then gave me form and told me to make a list of the contents of the case. If they were correct, he said, I could take the case away. I tried to remember all the articles I had hurriedly packed and wrote them down.

After I had done this, I went to look among the shelves. There were hundreds of cases there and for one dreadful moment, it occurred to me that if someone had picked the receipt up, he could easily have claimed the case already. Fortunately this had not happened, for after a time, I found the case lying on its side high up in the corner. After examining the articles inside, the assistant gave me the case.

I took out my wallet to pay him. I pulled out a ten shilling note and out slipped my 'lost' receipt with it! I could not help blushing. The assistant nodded his head knowingly, as if to say that he had often seen this happen too!!

Passage II

The recent change to all-volunteer armed forces in the United States will eventually produce a gradual increase in the proportion of women in the armed forces and in the variety of women's assignments, but probably not the dramatic gains for women that might have been expected. This is so even though the armed forces operate in an ethos of institutional change oriented toward occupational equality and under the federal sanction of equal pay for equal work. The difficulty is that women are unlikely to be trained for any direct combat operations. A significant portion of the larger society remains uncomfortable as yet with extending equality in this direction. Therefore, for women in the military, the search for equality will still be based on functional equivalence, not identity or even similarity of task. Opportunities seem certain to arise. The growing emphasis on deterrence is bound to offer increasing scope for women to become involved in novel types of noncombat military assignments.

Q37. The primary purpose of the passage is to

- (a) present a reasoned prognosis of the status of women in the new United States all-volunteer armed forces
- (b) analyse reforms in the new United States all-volunteer armed forces necessitated by the increasing number of women in the military.
- (c) present an overview of the different types of assignments available to women
- (d) present the new United States all-volunteer armed forces as a model case of equal employment policies in action

Q38. It can be inferred from the passage that after the recent change

- (a) men are forced, women join willingly
- (b) everyone joins the military willingly.
- (c) some join willingly, some are forced.
- (d) everyone joins the military under compulsion.

Q39. A suitable title for the passage might be

- (a) Current status of women in US military
- (b) Current status of women in US teaching service
- (c) Current status of women in US air force.
- (d) Current status of women in US navy.

Q40. Which sentence is an incorrect one?

- (a) The difficulty is that women are likely to be trained for any direct combat operation. "
- (b) The recent change to all-voluntary armed forces in US will produce a gradual increase in the proportion of women.
- (c) Opportunities seem certain to arise.
- (d) The difficulty is that women are unlikely to be trained for any direct combat operation.

Q41. It can be inferred from the passage that

- (a) Opportunities for women in military are certain to decline.
- (b) The society encourages increased participation of women in direct combat.
- (c) The Government sanctions equal pay for equal work.
- (d) The change to all-volunteer armed forces took place many years ago.

Q42. The word 'opportunities' used in the passage may be replaced by all except

- (a) scope
- (b) prospects
- (c) openings
- (d) failures

Q43. The passage implies which of the following is a factor conducive to a more equitable representation of women in the United States armed forces than has existed in the past?

- (a) An increased decline in the proportion of deterrence oriented noncombat assignments
- (b) The past service records of women who had assignments functionally equivalent to men's assignments
- (c) The all-volunteer character of the present armed forces
- (d) The level of awareness on the part of the larger society of military issues

Q44. Which of the following is closest in sense to the word 'novel' used in the passage?

- (a) dull
- (b) prosaic

Passage-III

One November afternoon, a child came to Rhyader's light house studio. She was about twelve, slender, dirty, nervous and timid. In her arms she carried something. She was desperately afraid of the ugly man she had come to see, but she had heard somewhere that this man would heal injured things. The man's voice was deep and kind when he spoke to her. What is it, child? She stepped forward timidly, and in her arms was a large white bird which was quite still. There were stains of blood on its whiteness. The girl placed it in his arms. "I found it, Sir. It's hurt, Is it still alive?" "Yes, Yes, I think so?" Rhyader went inside with the bird in his arms. He placed it upon a table. The girl flowered. The bird fluttered. This was the bag (182) which my mother had over the years (183) all the remains from sweaters, scarves, cardigans and gloves that she had knitted for herself (184) the family. All the wool is so badly mixed. (185) can I even detangle it, let alone knit a sweater from it?" She smiled and said, "It's easier (186) you think. All you have to do is look for the easiest knot and undo that. (187) that is done, the next knot will be easier. Just keep on doing this, until all the wool is unravelled ." I (188) as my mother had told me to, and sooner than I had thought, the wool started to loosen and different colours (189) to emerge. Very soon, instead of one huge untidy bunch of wool I had several neat balls in (190) of me.
